

April 6, 2006

I oppose the creation of the Bank for the same reasons I oppose the stores. They undermine local businesses and banks. Wal-Mart is already a major market force and does not need more economic power, especially with its questionable labor practices regarding women and custodial contractors. We don't need to see what they might do with more power, we've seen what they have done in their current approaches to profitability. I'm not a shareholder and do not shop there because of their reputation, my chance for making money or saving money doesn't outweigh looking at the consequences of their marketplace actions.

I urge the FDIC to stop the Wal-Mart Bank charter.

Goldie Freeman